Absorption and Its Action in Dyeing of Textile Fibers (Trotman) 483
Absorption: A Study of Dye (Rehner, J. and Srna) 491
Absorption of Artificial Silks (Hojers and Peterson) 608 Absorption by Rayon of Synthetic Dyes: Some Observations Performed by H. Seiber (Seiber) 796
Abstracted Proceedings of the American Chemical Society 622
Acetate Silk Printing: Some New Methods in 76
Action of Dyes on Cellulose and Its Application in Testing
Cotton (Hall) 787
Additives in the Dying of Artificial Silk (Bodendenker) 695
Advantages of Bleaching Textiles with Hydrogen Peroxide (Quinn) 587
Advisor on Packing and Shipping: Uncle Sam (Fawcett) 442
Aging of Allakeli Cellulose 44
American Chemical Society: Abstracted Proceedings of the 54
Ammonium Salts in the Dye Bath: Behavior of (Clafin) 49
Analytical Methods for Textile Soaps (Levitte) 667
Analyzing Colors of Treatments and Other Dyes: Apparatus for 100
An Approach to Scientific Research (Clark) 100
Antiseptic Agents for the Prevention of Mildew: The (Lloyd) 608
Application of Indanthenes Colors on Cotton Raw Stock and Cotton
Yarn (Williams) 110
Application of Chlorine on Textiles (Bishop) 282
Application of Van Colours to Cotton Piece Good (Vleira) 312
Application of Van Colors in Printing (Marshall) 308
Artificial Silk: Advantages in the Dying of (Hojers and Peterson) 695
Automatic Apparatus for Analyzing Colors of Transparent and Opaque
Objects 100
Azof-Dye-Solubilites: Analysis of Bleached and Dried Wool: Importance of (Hall) 725
Behavior of Ammonium Salts in the Dye Bath (Clafin) 49
Benefits of Manufacturers' Census 222
Between Two Worlds (Hanser) 491
Benzanthrene Series: Van Dyes of 76
Biological Stains: Absorption Ratios of (Holmes and Peterson) 689
Bleaching and Dying: Importance of Azof-DyeSolubilites in Connection with (Hall) 725
Bleaching Cotton Goods with Hydrogen Peroxide (Smolens) 534
Bleaching Cotton Goods with Hydrogen Peroxide: Advantages of (Quinn) 587
Bleaching Textiles with Hydrogen Peroxide: Advantages of (Quinn) 587
